

SPEAKER NATIONAL ASSEMBLY OF PAKISTAN

Message

on Commemoration of the Golden Jubilee of Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan, 1973.

Spring and the Constitution of 1973 arrived together in Pakistan on April 10, 1973. It is with great honor and pride that we celebrate the Golden Jubilee of the Constitution of Pakistan as a 'spring of hope' for our democratic future.

This historic milestone marks fifty years since our founding fathers enshrined the principles of democracy, social justice, and human rights in our Constitution, providing a strong foundation for our nation's progress and development.

As we reflect on the past fifty years, we recognize the remarkable progress that Pakistan has made in various fields. Our Constitution has played an essential role in shaping our society, providing a framework for governance and the protection of the rights of all citizens. It has been a guiding light in steering our nation towards a more prosperous, peaceful, and inclusive future.

Despite the many challenges that we have faced over the years, our Constitution has remained steadfast, providing us with the necessary tools to overcome obstacles and forge ahead. Our commitment to upholding the principles and values of the Constitution has served as a beacon of hope for our nation, inspiring us to work towards a better future.

As we celebrate this momentous occasion, we renew our pledge to uphold the Constitution of Pakistan, which is the cornerstone of our democracy and the bedrock of our society. We acknowledge that the strength of our nation lies in our collective ability to respect and honor the Constitution and work towards building a just and equitable society for all.

We recognize that the road ahead will not be easy, but with the spirit of unity and determination, we can overcome any challenge. Let us pledge to work together towards building a peaceful, prosperous, and inclusive Pakistan, where the rule of law, human rights, and social justice are upheld.

In conclusion, I would like to extend my heartfelt congratulations to all Pakistanis on this momentous occasion. May Allah bless our nation and guide us towards the path of progress and prosperity.

Thank you.
